

Just wanted to say I hope The FCC uses common sense and protects The Ham radio users. We do help provide a public service and help in any emergencies. If you allow companies to hurt our services you'll find you'll loose the ham radio users. So when an emergency comes around then all of the volunteers will be gone because of our allocated radio Freq's will not be usable because of the PLC companies.

I think very detailed and strict codes placed on PLC should keep our Hobbies and our radio's for emergency use for EMA and Weather alive and well. If you allow PLC to just jump in without protecting us then we will vanish and the weather and EMA services we provide will vanish with us. All for what?? being able to use a computer in anyroom in a house?? Please there are enough services for Broadband out there. Let the people use that service instead of PLC. I hope the almighty dollor doesn't prevail over common sense.

73 to all,
